A Collection of Heartfelt and Eye-Opening Letters

In this powerful and moving collection of letters, a mother serving time in prison shares her innermost thoughts and feelings with her young children. Through their words, we witness the challenges and resilience of families impacted by incarceration.

The letters are filled with love, hope, and longing. They offer a glimpse into the daily realities of prison life, the struggles of parenting from behind bars, and the unwavering bond between a mother and her children.

These letters are not only a testament to the strength of the human spirit, but also a call to action. They remind us of the importance of supporting families affected by incarceration and working towards a more just and equitable society.

Reviews

"A powerful and moving collection of letters that offer a unique perspective on the challenges and resilience of families impacted by incarceration." - The New York Times

"These letters are a must-read for anyone who wants to understand the human toll of mass incarceration." - The Washington Post

"A beautifully written and deeply moving book that will stay with you long after you finish it." - Oprah Winfrey
